FAMOUS HIGHWAY TO BE PRESERVED

Markers to Be Placed To Show "Braddock Road" Near Alexandria.

AN HISTORIC ENVIRON.

Daughters of American Revolution Engaged in Charting Original Trail Across Continent.

Richmond, Va., May 1.—Following a conference yesterday with officers of the National Association of Daughters of the American Revolution, State Highway Commissioner Coleman agreed to use the resources of his office to assist that organization in the marking of the National Old Trails Highway, which is to extend from coast to coast over the old and historic routes. Within the next few weeks Commissioner Coleman will put a staff of men at work marking the section of the highway which runs through Virginia, from Hampton through Williamsburg, Richmond and Alexandria to Washington.

The National Old Trails Road Association, supported as an agency of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has now pending in Congress a bill appropriating money for the upkeep and marking of these historic old trails. Commissioner Coleman, after a long conference with Mrs. Elizabeth Gentry, president of the association, and Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell, entered into the movement in the belief that it is an educational feature of great value in the campaign for good roads.

One section of the National Old Trails Highway begins in New York and runs through Virginia to Washington, where it merges with the road from New York and the two go west over the same route. The section of the highway in Virginia is known as "Braddock's Road," and is said to have been the route used by the famous English commander when he marched his soldiers to that memorable defeat at the hands of the Indians. Braddock landed his forces at Hampton on his trip over from England. Some authorities say he reshipped there for Alexandria, but the National Old Trails Association is firm in the belief that he marched his army by land from Hampton to Alexandria.

"Braddock Road," as it is called by the association on its chart, is the present highway from Hampton to Richmond and from Richmond north. Commissioner Coleman agreed with the representatives of the association to mark the route by painting the telegraph poles along the roadside with red, white and blue bands containing the words, "National Old Trails Road."

The section of the highway from New York to Washington is the (illegible) Post Road, used in former times by the coaches between New York and Philadelphia.

Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the President and Mrs. Wilson, and Mm.G.McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, will be married on May 7, in the Blue Room of the White House. The room, notable as the scene of many historic events, is covered in heavy, corded blue silk and is handsomely furnished in white, blue and gold.

HUERTA DRIVEN TO LAST RESORT

Is Releasing Political And Other Prisoners to Withstand U. S.

HE IS ABOUT TO FLEE.

Raids Saloons and Furnishes Men With Liquor in Order to Keep up Their "Dutch Courage."

Vera Cruz, Mexico, May 1.—In a desperate effort to unite all political factions and organize his defense to resist the United States, Dictator Huerta has released all political prisoners in Mexico City, according to advices received here today. The men set at liberty include several congressmen who opposed the dictator.

Huerta addressing the prisoners in person, according to the reports h declaring: "We are now brought here, facing the common enemy, the American invaders."

At the conclusion of Huerta's speech the freed men were furnished with funds and sent to all parts of Mexico to spread the propoganda of the dictator.

Huerta has seized the saloons in the capital in order that he may furnish his soldiers with a liberal supply of liquor in hope of keeping them loyal to him, according to a message received here by the captain of the French cruiser Conde.

Earlier reports that the people of the capital were turning against the dictator are also borne out in this message which declares Huerta is believed to have made all arrangements for flight in case of an outbreak.

SHOT BY A NEGRO.

Leonard Nalls Surprises Black in Act of Stealing.

Leonard Nalls, assistant superintendent of the Herbert Bryant Son's Fertilizer Works, was shot and slightly injured last night by a colored man who was caught attempting to steal a roll of felt roofing from the new building which is being erected near the canal, in the northeastern portion of the city. Nalls was in the office when he heard a noise in the adjoining building. He went to investigate and saw two negroes with the roll of material. When they saw him they dropped their loot and started to run. Nalls fired in the air to scare them, when one of the men stopped and shot at Nalls with a shotgun. The load hit Nalls a glancing blow on the right leg. He was taken to his home at 417 south Fairfax street where he was attended by Dr. S. B. Moore, who picked twenty bird shot from the man's right thigh.

Chief of Police Goods made an investigation and this morning arrested Charles Williams and Thomas Roddy, colored, charged with being responsible for the shooting. The latter after having been locked up confessed that he shot Nalls. He said he discharged the gun because he was scared.

ODD FELLOWS' ANNIVERSARY.

Gala Night Among Members of Organization in Alexandria.

The celebration of the ninety-fifth anniversary of Odd Fellowship in Alexandria last night was an occasion which will long be remembered among the members of that time-honored order. The program which had been arranged was carried out successfully, and all who attended the gathering in Potomac Lodge hall on North Columbus street were greatly pleased.

The affair was under the auspices of Canton Alexandria No. 1, Patriarchs Militant, commanded by Lieut-Col. W. L. Martin and among the guests were members of Canton Washington No. 1, commanded by Captain Pumphrey, Colonel Charles Pohlig, of Richmond, commander of the department of Virginia; Lieut. J. H. Hill, of Norfolk, and Gen. Foxwell and Col. Fred Groom, of Baltimore.

HONOR JACKSON'S MEMORY TODAY

Movement Throughout The State to Erect Monument To His Memory.

FLAG DAY OBSERVED.

First and Only General Call For Contributions For Funds Meets With Many Cheerful Responses.

Richmond, May 1.—Miniature Confederate flags adorning the breasts of thousands today attested the esteem and admiration felt by the people of this city for the noble Virginian, "Stonewall" Jackson, who, fifty-one years ago tomorrow, was mortally wounded in defense of Richmond—the capital of the Confederacy. A double purpose will be served by the wearers of the tiny colors—honor will be done to him to whom honor is due, a means will be provided to perpetuate his memory, and a debt Virginia owes will be fittingly acknowledged.

This was the only general opportunity Richmonders had to contribute to this cause. Flag Day will come but once. Under the direction of the local chapters, Daughters of the Confederacy, stations were opened today on every prominent corner and in every large office and public building in the city. The flags were offered at any price the purchaser choses to pay. There was no restriction by any one person, and there was no limit to the price. Flags were sold in nearly every city in the State, Governor Stuart having proclaimed May 1 as Stonewall Jackson Day.

All of the funds collected will go toward the erection of an equestrian monument to the great Southern chieftain. A site for the memorial has not yet been selected, but it will probably be within a short distance of those which show the gratitude of the people of the South to Lee, Stuart and Davis.

This will be the first and last request for general contributions from this city, and it is hoped that the appeal will not be in vain. Nothing can be added to Jackson's fame or greatness, but the world will be shown by the erection of this monument that Virginians are not insensible to the great sacrifices made by him, as expressed by a speaker at the big mass meeting on Wednesday night.

"It is not money from the public treasury we want, it is the voluntary gifts of the people, coming with their love and admiration, which will make this monument a lasting memorial."

The sale of the flags was authorized by Mayor George Ainslie, with the expression of his hope that the people of the city over which he presides would respond liberally to the appeal.

Women were stationed at strategic points all over the city with a supply of flags early this morning to catch the first workers as they set forth to their daily tasks. The stations will not be abandoned until sundown.

The alarm of fire about half past six o'clock yesterday evening was caused by a burning chimney on the north side of Duke street, between West and Peyton.

WILL ASK COUNCIL TO DONATE $5,000

Collecting Committee For New Hospital Now Have $18,361.

A PLAY FOR TONIGHT.

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting of Hospital Promoters Held at Rooms of Chamber of Commerce.

The rooms of the Chamber of Commerce were crowded by two meetings last night. One was of the trustees of the hospital over which Worth Hulfish presided, and the other was the executive committee meeting, with A. D. Brockett in the chair.

The principal work of the trustees was to pass a resolution asking the City Council to appropriate $5,000.00 for the hospital fund, after which the two committees were merged, and Mr. Brockett presided.

The contributions amounting to $18,361 were next put upon the black board. After the treasurer had put this amount on the board, nearly $400.00 was contributed, $10.00 of which was a donation from J. D. Bradley, of Washington city.

Mr. Brockett stated the progress that had been made and urged everyone to continue their efforts. He also brought up the question of whether the list of subscribers, together with the amount given by them should be published, and suggested that if it was decided in the affirmative that a date should be fixed for the publication. He also called attention to the fact that only about 250 of the 17,000 or 18,000 inhabitants of Alexandria had contributed, and stated that he confidently expected the entire amount to be subscribed.

The publication of the list of subscribers was the cause of considerable debate and quite a number of short speeches on the subject were made by Messrs. Hulfish, Burke, Brumback, Jas. R. Caton, Carroll Pierce, Albert Smoot, J. Y. Williams, and Gardner L. Boothe. There was great unanimity as to the necessity for publishing the names of contributors, and some diversity as to when they should be published, and whether the amounts should be set opposite the names or published in a lump sum. Almost by a unanimous vote it was decided that the names and amounts should be published (except where the individuals requested that their names should not be used) and the publicity committee was directed to prepare a list for the papers for next Wednesday night as the publication would be made on Thursday.

One of Alexandria's prominent merchants came to the headquarters this morning, as soon as they opened, with a contribution of $100.00.

The children in the schools and Sunday schools are requested to remember that their contributions are expected to be turned in on next Sunday, and one of the reasons that caused the delay in the publication of names, was to give them an opportunity to have their contributions published with the others. This should make the children very active from now until Sunday morning in securing subscriptions and seeing which school accomplishes the best results.

The High School girls and boys were very active during the day and everybody that did not surrender his cash to them did not receive any smiles from the pretty girls. The Opera House should be crowded tonight when their benefit for the hospital is staged.

The Citizens' National bank through its officers will be glad to receive subscriptions from its patrons and friends to the Hospital fund, delivering the same to the committee daily.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

James E. Rose, Wood and Coal Merchant of Washington, Passes Away

Following an illness of one week, James E. Rose, seventy-four years, one of the pioneer wood and coal merchants of Washington, died yesterday afternoon at his home in that city. Interment will be in the Union Cemetery, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in this city.

Mr. Rose was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage in his office, at 1125 Seventh street southeast, a week ago. On Wednesday there was a change for the worse, and he failed rapidly. At his bedside when he died were his three surviving children, Mrs. P. R. Pullman and T. Wellington Rose, of Washington, and Herbert J. Rose, cashier of the Southern Railway offices, at Alexandria.

He was a native of Fauquier county. He was married in November, 1858, to Miss Sarah Mumford, of Oxfordshire, England, Mrs. Rose died in 1874. During the civil war Mr. Rose was engaged in the transportation of Southern soldiers in the Virginia campaigns. His work threw him with many officers of the Confederate army, who became his friends, and when President Jefferson Davis went over the battlefield at Bull Run, Mr. Rose accompanied him.

Mr. Rose many years ago was engaged in the wood and coal business at the northeast corner of Queen and Fairfax streets.

COOL FIRST DAY OF MAY

April Passes Away Accompanied by a Chilly Northest Wind.

The warm weather, rain, thunder and lightning of Wednesday had barely passed away when the wind was changing to the frigid quarter, and old Boreas, yesterday, let us know that all his wintry blasts had not been exhausted. The temperature continued to fall until after the close of the day, when overcoats, which had been discarded, were again brought into requisition.

The weather today has been cool for the first day of May and fires were rekindled in most homes.

There are many traditions connected with today. It is the belief among the young that the first man a woman met today is destined to be her future husband, and some young swains prefer to believe that the first specimens of the opposite sex they encounter are their bribes.

In parts of England, France, Germany, and other European countries the first day of this month is a sort of fete day. Maypole dances are given, picnics, etc.

The day also figures in church calendars, certain saints having, it is supposed, been born on the first of May. It would take up too much space even to refer to the many things conected with the advent of this month, but if any person having the curiosity to do so would take some work on popular antiquities and see what hangs to the first day of May he or she would find enough reading for several hours.

Presidents Stevens and Johnson, of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk, and Western Railways, respectively, were also present, as were Vice Presidents Davant and Maher, of the Norfolk and Western; Caples, of the Chesapeake and Coapman, of the Southern.

Addresses wer made by the three executives and Messrs. Maher and Caples.

The visiting officials were given an automobile ride over the city yesterday afternoon.

SUICIDE OF SERGEANT.

Facing Arrest for Absence From Fort Monroe When he Ends Life.

Norfolk, Va., May 1.—Sergeant William Zepper, of Company 148, stationed at Fort Monroe, ended his life with a bullet in Phoebus, Va., yesterday rather than submit to arrest by a squad of his former comrades.

Zepper had been absent from the fort for several days, and a sergeant was sent out to find him. When placed under arrest Zepper resisted so strenuously that the sergeant returned to the fort for assistance. A squad of enlisted men was detailed to bring Zepper back to the fort. When he saw them coming he pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired a bullet into his brain.

Following the wedding at Staatsburg, N. Y., Vincent Astor was forced to retire to his room, and he remained there until after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he and his bride left for "Ferncliffe," the Astor estate at Rhinebeck. At "Ferncliffe" last night he was under the care of Dr. Herridan and two nurses. A member of the family said that Mr. Astor must be "mighty careful" of himself for several weeks. At the end of a month it is hoped that he will be sufficiently recovered to go abroad with his bride for the extensive honeymoon cruise in the Noma which they planned weeks ago.

O CORN-LESS JOY!
"GETS-IT" FOR CORNS

Nothing in the World Can Beat it for Corns and Calluses.

Now try the different way, the new way, the absolutely sure way, the painless way of getting rid of those corns that have pestered the life and soul out of you for such a long time.

"I Feel Like Hugging Somebody. My Corns Are Gone At Last. 'GETS-IT' Did It."

Drop everything else and use "GETS-IT." A few drops applied in a few seconds does the work. Useless junk, like flesh-eating salves that make corns swell, cotton rings that make corns stand up like pop-eyes, razors, corn-diggers, scissors, and files that make corns grow faster, are all done for. "GETS-IT" is on a new principle, makes corn shrivel, vanish! It can't stick to the stocking, or hurt the flesh.

Danville, Va., May 1.—It cost M. Koplen $100 to call Clarence Motley, a thirteen-year-old boy, a chicken thief here last July, according to a decision in Circuit Court Wednesday. Koplen, who missed chickens from his run, accused the boy of stealing them. The boy told his father, A. B. Motley, and suit for the recovery of $3,000 damages was instituted against Koplen. SINCLAIR ON HUNGER STRIKE.

He and Two Women Followers Put in Jail.

New York, May 1.—Upton Sinclair and the four women who were arrested with him Wednesday in front of the Standard Oil building while they paraded as "mourners," protesting against John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s policy in the Colorado mine war, were yesterday found guilty of disorderly conduct and each was sentenced to pay a fine of $3, with the alternative of three days in jail

Sinclair, Mrs. Donie Lietner and Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman refused to pay the fine. Mrs. Belle Zilverman and Mrs. Margaret Remington Charter said they would pay.

Sinclair elected to go to jail. There, he said, he would 'lie on my cot and refuse food, although my health is poor, and I am on the point of a nervous collapse and have important literary work to do—more important than my own life." The women declared their intention to join him in his hunger strike.

While the arraignment was in progress other pickets, led by Mrs. Sinclair and Albert Boni, kept up the silent march. They were recruited by six or eight new members who, with black crepe on their arms, patrolled up and down, regardless of the drizzle, walking two by twos and threes before the Rockefeller offices.

MONUMENT TO A GREAT LEADER.

The Stonewall Jackson Memorial Association of Richmond have observed "Flag Day" today, this being the initial of a movement having for its object the erection in the Capitol grounds of a monument to the memory of one of the greatest military leaders which have figured in the world's history. The aim of this association should appeal to every Virginian who entertians an honest pride of the great man which have been given the world by the Old Dominion. The day has been observed throughout Virginia.

The career of Thomas J. Jackson was brief. Up to 1861 he was comparatively unknown, being an unpretentious teacher in the Virginia Military Institute, and had there been no war between the North and South he probably would never have been heard of outside his own limited sphere of acquaintances. Almost as soon as he entered the field he shone as a brilliant star, and in a few months the name of Stonewall Jackson had gone over the civilized world, as a modern Napoleon famous for the rapidity of his movements. He was a terror to Federal commanders for about two years after which he finished his course during a severe thunderstorm at Chancellorsville, fifty-one years ago tomorrow.

When General Robert E. Lee realized that the death of the great commander was inevitable, the dread pneumonia having followed his terrible wounds inflicted by his own men who were but carrying out his orders to fire upon any person who should appear on a certain plank road, Lee knew that he was deprived of his right bower, and he felt the loss of his auxiliary throughout the remainder of the war.

Jackson was a great man in every way. He was of Scotch-Irish stock, and a firm believer in the doctrines of John Calvin, hence he felt as safe upon the field of battle as any where else, and his sense of duty overshadowed everything else.

When a boy he manifested symptoms of tuberculosis, and doctors after examining the youth told his relatives that he would never reach his twenty-first birthday. He, however was nearly forty when he received his fatal wounds.

There is probably no more interesting and thrilling chapter in the history of any war than the fall of Stonewall Jackson on the bloody field of Chancellorsville. The vivid lighting was playing around the litter upon which he had been placed by kind hands. A bullet had penetrated one of his arms and another had shattered the hand with which he was holding his horse's bridle. Added to the war of the elements from the Federal batteries were exploding in the air. Four men raised the litter and started away with their wounded General, when a shell killed one of his bearers, causing the cot to fall at the end which the unfortunate man was bearing. Another quickly took the place of the dead man and the mournful cortege proceeded. General Pindar subsequently rode up and told Jackson his (Pindar's) position was perilous. The wounded Jackson at this juncture gave his last command—"General Pindar, hold your position."

It was found necessary to amputate the wounded arm. Pneumonia followed and in a short time the shade of the trees upon the opposite side of the river became his retreat.

The lesson which can be derived from the short but great career of Stonewall Jackson should be imparted to every youth in the commonwealth. He lived and died with a conscience void of offense towards God and towards man. Unmindful and apparently unconcerned of the great notoriety he was gaining, his duty toward his Maker was never neglected. After the battle of Bull Run, when his star was shining so brilliantly, he wrote a letter to his pastor enclosing a subscription to a negro Sunday school, but never once mentioned that great conflict nor the part he played in it.

Unlike many other military leaders he never lost a battle, and when not engaged upon the field on Sundays he could be found in some humble country church near his encampment.

Jackson was unpretentious, and rather inclined to shrink from prominence. A long time he attended the regular prayer meetings of his church without the nerve to attempt to lead in public invocations. His conscience was troubling him, and he finally went to the pastor and requested him to call upon him occasionally, as he felt this was a duty he was ignoring. The pastor did so. Jackson, at first, was doubtless regarded as a failure in line, but he subsequently overcame his diffidence and succeeded in offering public prayers satisfactorily.

The history of his life, though short, has been healthful to all who have read it, and it is hoped that the capitol square in Richmond will soon contain his monument with those of Washington, and Lee, and other. It is a duty we owe the great Thomas J. Jackson.

KILLED IN STRIKE BATTLES.

Conflict in Walsenburg, Colorado Breaks Out Again.

Denver, May 1. — Under a truce agreement which stopped the fight at Walsenburg Wednesday afternoon, approximately 650 strikers that night surrendered arms to militia officers appointed by Colonel Verdeckbeck. The strikers were not taken into custody but will be subject to prosecution in the courts for the killing of Maj. P. P. Lester, of the hospital corps.

Denver, May 1.—Seven men lie dead in the Forbes camp of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company.

Most of the mine buildings are in ashes.

Nine defenders are missing but are believed to have reached the Majestic Mine.

Three strikers are thought to have been killed.

Major P. P. Lester, of the militia hospital corps, was shot and killed by strikers near Walsenburg while dressing a militiaman's wound. He wore a red cross band on his arm.

One militiaman was reported wounded at Walsenburg.

In the fighting at Louisville Sunday six men were wounded, one probably seriously.

Federal troops began to arrive in the state Wednesday and the strike situation was confidently expected to take on a more pacific aspect.

IF YOUR BOWLES DON'T ACT RIGHT, READ THIS.

We believe your doctor will tell you that about ninety-five per cent of all human ills are indirectly caused by unclean and constipated bowels. You know the first question the doctor always asks, "Are your bowels regular?"

To make and keep your bowels regular, use Rexall Orderlies. We believe they are the safest, most dependable, easiest to take and most thoroughly good remedy for bowel troubles ever made. We back this belief with our honest promise that, if they do not satisfy you in every way, we will give back the money you paid for them as soon as you tell us.

Rexall Orderlies taste like candy, soothing and easy in action, they do not cause griping, nausea, purging, or excessive looseness and do most physics and especially salts. They tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles of the bowels, promptly relieving constipation and helping overcome its cause, thus relieving sick headache, biliousness, bad breath, nervousness and other ills attendant upon inactive bowels. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores and in this town only of Wm. P. Taylor, druggist, 616 King street.

ASTOR WEDDING YESTERDAY.

Seventy-five Guests Invited to Ceremony Held at Bride's Home.

Staatsburg, N. Y., May 1.—The simplest of ceremonies was planned for the wedding here at noon yesterday of Miss Helen Dinsmore Huntington and Vincent Astor, the wealthiest young man in America. The Rev. Charles H. Duncan, pastor of St. Margaret's Church, read the Episcopal marriage service.

Owing to the recent illness of the bridegroom, who still is weak from an attack of grippe, the ceremony was performed at Hopeland House, the magnificent Staatsburg estate of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Huntington.

Only seventy-five guests, including Astor's mother and sister Alice Muriel, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, and other close relatives and friends attended. Fifteen of the guests came here from New York by special train.

The only attendants chosen for Miss Huntington were Alice Muriel Astor and Margaret Dows, daughter of Mrs. Tracy Dows, whose home is near Hopeland House, and her sister, Miss Alice Huntington. The two former acted as flower girls, and the bride's sister as maid of honor.

Herman Oelrich's boyhood chum of Vincent Astor, was best man. There were no ushers.

The bridal gown was of white tulle, of simple design, with a train of white satin and wedding lace that was worn by the bride's paternal grandmother and again by her mother, who was married at St. Margaret's Church in 1892. The bride wore a priceless pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. It is said to be the finest set of pearls ever strung.

Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, sister of the bridegroom's father, Colonel John Jacob Astor, who sided with him when his first wife divorced him, was not present. She arranged to leave New York today for White Sulphur Springs, Va., to visit Colonel Astor's widow, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor.

Orchids and great banks of spring flowers from the Huntington estate were used in the decorations.

Washington has two policewomen. They were commissioned yesterday. The first women ever authorized to exercise the powers of policeman Washington are Miss Margaret Dismorr and Miss Mary Louise Simpson, members of the recenly created board of inspectors for the eight-hour law. These two young women will have full police powers to make arrests in connection with the enforcement of the law. Their work will be confined to inspections and investigations where women are employed.

Hoosier
"White Beauty"

Why Not Decide This Tomorrow—Once for All?

1. Do you want this NEW HOOSIER put into your Home, NOW for only $1.00?
2. Or will you wait and miss the benefits of the liberal HOOSIER PLAN?

No matter what your income—whether your husband makes $500 a year or $5,000, this new Hoosier Cabinet can help you so much in your kitchen work that purchasing it now will be a big economy.

It Saves Steps It Saves Health
It Saves Time It Saves Money
It Saves Good Looks

The end of this great opportunity may come sooner than we expected. Scores have stood in front of our window and admired "White Beauty" shown there. Many have already enrolled on the HOOSIER PLAN, which is as follows:

1. $1 puts the Hoosier you select in your home.
2. $1 weekly quickly pays for it.
3. The Low Cash Price fixed by the factory prevails strictly.
4. The sale is under the direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.
5. No interest, no extra fees.
6. Your money back if you are not delighted with your Hoosier.

THE NEW HOOSIER CABINET at the present low cash price, on this plan, is a wonderful value. This great offer naturally must be limited to a few cabinets. When these are taken the sale closes. You will then have to pay regular terms as for all other furniture.

Your problem is simply this: Tomorrow you can examine at your leisure "White Beauty" and the other Hoosiers with "Oak" inside. You do not obligate yourself in any way. You can then decide at once and use your Hoosier tomorrow or later, as you choose.

Will you grasp this opportunity and come tomorrow? Or will you delay and risk coming too late?

Read About these conveniences that have made the HOOSIER necessary to over 700,000 Women

(1) Mrs. Christine Frederick's famous Housekeepers' Food Guide"—on the upper left door—answers every woman's eternally perplexing problem—"What shall we have for dinner?" You turn the dial to the meat you want and a complete outline of a perfectly balanced meal is before you—an exclusive Hoosier feature that is an invaluable help.

(2) The Cook-book Holder on the middle upper door holds your cook book securely when not in use. When you are cooking, simply open up the book to the proper page behind the holder. It is on a level with your eye, always clean, never in the way.

There are 40 special conveniences in the NEW HOOSIER—17 are entirely NEW.

(3) The Hoosier Metal Flour Bin holds fifty pounds. It is low and easy to fill. The sliding glass front enables you to clean the entire bin easily. The inside is entirely of metal with no corners to hold flour. First flour in is always out first.

(4) The New Shaker Flour Sifter is the most wonderful of all the New Hoosier inventions. It is the only flour sifter ever made on a kitchen cabinet that shakes flour through instead of grinding it through. It cannot wear out and cannot grind through any grit or foreign substance that might be in the flour.

Twenty of these features are described IN OUR WINDOW DISPLAY which will be the talk of the town next week—come in and find out about the others.

(5) A Big, Extra Roomy Drawer in the base is made entirely of metal for the proper storage of all kitchen linen, towels, dish cloths, etc. The drawer is noiseless, rustless, and easy to keep clean.

(6) A new feature in the Base Cupboard is a narrow shelf conveniently located for the storage of canned articles. Most women will find this a great convenience as an "emergency shelf." It will save many trips to the cellar or pantry.

TOMORROW YOU may examine all the new features. You incur no obligation. But you should come early so you can study them all carefully. Our stock of White Beauty patterns is limited. You may be too late to get one on the HOOSIER PLAN if you delay. Come and SEE this remarkable NEW Hoosier tomorrow.

PASTOR SAYS HE WAS BRIBED.

Rev. C. B. Ragsdale Admits Swearing Falsely in the Leo Frank Case.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—A tremendous sensation has been caused by the confession of Rev. C. B. Ragsdale, a Baptist minister, that he made a false affidavit for a consideration of $200, swearing that Jim Conley, the star negro witness for the prosecution in the case of Leo Frank, had murdered a girl in the pencil factory where Mary Phagan met death.

Confronted by a committee from his church, Ragsdale made a confession of the transaction. The church committee, after hearing Ragsdale's statement that he was in dire straits when he accepted the $200 bribe, accepted his resignation and made up a month's salary for him.

Ragsdale would not say who paid the $200, but declared the affidavit was made in the presence of Detective William J. Burns and two other detectives.

The prosecution and defense are ready for arguments in the motion for a new trial for Frank, under sentence of death for the Phagan murder.

This begins today.

QUIET IN COLORADO.

Federal Soldiers Now Patrol Strike Zone in Fremont County.

Denver, Colyo., May 1—With federal tropos on the ground, conditions were quiet today in the Colorado strike zone. State troops are being relieved as rapidly as the regulars can be sent to points where disturbances have occurred and the strikers are said to be dispersing.

The Federal soldiers now patrol the Fremont county district, and regular troops, under Captain Parker, superseded the militiamen at Walsenburg tonight.

The regulars will occupy the Ludlow district tomorrow and the National guardsmen from Walsenburg and Ludlow are expected to reach Denver by tomorrow night.

Thus far the strikers have surrendered no arms either to the militia or the federal troops. Leaders are engaged tonight in going among the hills of Southern Colorado urging the men to disperse and return to their homes, but, according to John Lawson, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America, they have not been told to give up their weapons.

The Panama Canal will open with a barge service about May 10, an earlier date than was expected, but Colonel Goethals has decided that the interruption of the Tehuantepec Railroad route makes it imperative to open the canal for commercial use at that time. The first freight to be towed through the canal will consist of Hawaiian sugar. Much freight formerly shipped by the Tehuantepec Railroad has been offered for transshipment through the canal.

ANTI-TRUST BILL READY.

Senate Committee Drafts Drastic Measure Creating Interstate Trade Commission.

Washington, May 1.—The final draft of the drastic bill for the regulation of interstate corporations was approved Wednesday by a subcommittee of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. It will be laid before the full comittee today and may be reported to the Senate next week.

This new measure for the anti trust legislation program will provide for the creation of an inter-state trade commission of five members with powers greatly similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission; it would prohibit interlocking directorates and holding compaies;gives the trade commission supervision over capitalization and make unlawful the purchase or sale of commodities by a common carrier to or from any other corporation the directors of which are the directors of a carrier. The question of whether the Sherman anti-trust act shall be enforced against labor and farmers' organizations is not dealt with in the bill.

According to members of the subcommittee, the bill proposes in the trade commission an engine which is designed to be most powerful in government affairs. It would have many of the attributes of a court without the right to punish, but with power investigation, examination and recommendation. Prosecutions for violations of the terms of the bill would be instituted by the Department of Justice in the proper courts.

A new feature of the bill is the prohibition of relationship through common directors or carriers and companies doing business with them. This has been extended so as to prevent banks acting as fiscal agents for carriers when they have an identity of directors. It is said to be aimed to prevent a recurrence of the problems presented by the recent railroad investigations.

The committee's draft proposes a stringent guard over capitalization and would provide that stock issues shall be based on actual property values, the commission to have the power to determine the values. The commission, however, will not supervise bond issues.

Authority would be given the new body to determine when two corporations in interstate business were in lead to future avoidance of many competition.
